

Account Terms and Conditions Eurocard with Corporate Liability

as of 1 November 2015.

1. Definitions

In these Terms and Conditions the following words and expressions shall have the following meanings:

- a) "The Company" means Eurocard, filial av Eurocard AB, company reg. no.: 995638878, PB 1672 Vika, 0120 Oslo. Tel.: 21015500. Eurocard is licensed to provide financial services and is subject to supervision by the Financial Supervisory Authority of Norway. The parent company is Eurocard AB, company reg. no.: 556070 4453, S-851 81 Stockholm, Sweden. The Company is supervised by the Swedish Financial Supervisory Authority.
- b) "The Agreement" means the agreement regarding the issue of one or more payment cards, entered into between the Company and the Account Holder. The Agreement encompasses these Terms and Conditions, the Company's applicable price lists and other binding terms and conditions and/or declarations agreed between the Company and the Account Holder.
- c) "Merchant" means a place where the card can be used as a means of payment or for withdrawal of cash funds.
- d) "Consumer" shall be understood to be coincident with the Norwegian Financial Services Act section 2, (1).
- e) "Card" means a Eurocard Corporate Gold or Eurocard Corporate Platinum payment card with either central or individual invoicing.
- f) "Account Holder" means the entity or entities holding an account with payment liability.
- g) "Cardholder" means the person whose name is on the issued Card.

2. Description of the Service

The Card is a payment card that can be used on the Internet, contactless payments, at points of sale for goods and services or for the withdrawal of cash funds at ATMs (cash dispensers), when these are marked for such use. The Card can also be used within other areas according to further specification. Specification of areas of use is available at eurocard.no. The Card is issued for the purpose of paying business related expenses only. The Card must not be used to purchase gambling/casino services, even if the Merchant accepts the card as a method of payment. Nor shall the Card be used in contravention of applicable legislation.

3. Application and Acceptance

To apply for a Card, an application form must be completed and sent to the Company. The applicant can however, give consent that the Agreement shall be binding even if there is no physical signed agreement. The person or persons that sign the application, physically or electronically, guarantee the veracity of the information provided. The Company may check the information in the application, and the person or persons who signed the application consent to the Company obtaining further information in connection with the application process (including credit information). The Company has the right to refuse the application. On setting up a customer account, mandatory checks will be carried out in accordance with relevant anti money laundering legislation.

In submitting an application for a Card, the applicant acknowledges and accepts the terms and conditions as stated in the Agreement, as stipulated by the Company. The Agreement is finally entered into when and insofar as the Company approves the application and issues the Card, that is being signed and used. On receipt of replacement or renewed cards, the applicable terms and conditions apply. If the terms and conditions are accepted, the Card must be signed immediately. The old card must then be destroyed. The Terms and Conditions are also considered to have been accepted if the Card is retained and/or used, without the Card being signed. If the Terms and Conditions are not accepted the Card must be destroyed and the Company must be notified, in accordance with paragraph 14.

4. Card – general information

On establishing an Agreement, a Card will be issued that has a limited validity period. The expiry date is the end of the year and month as stated on the Card. Each Card is issued in accordance with the Company's applicable prices for issue and use, including these Terms and Conditions, which may be amended according to section 16. The Account Holder must ensure that the Card is signed upon receipt and the Account Holder shall ensure that the Cardholder is aware of this Agreement. The Accountholder is liable for mistakes made by the Cardholder. The absence of a signature on the Card increases the risk of unauthorised use of the Card and does not exempt the Account Holder from liability for use or misuse of the Card according to these Terms and Conditions. The Card remains the property of the Company. The Cardholder is obliged on request from the Company or the Merchant to hand over the Card when there is justifiable reason to do so. In certain circumstances the Company, on its own initiative, can block and issue a new card, if this is deemed necessary for security reasons.

5. Use of the Card – Authorising transactions

The Card can only be held and used by the Cardholder. The Card must not be handed over to anyone else, with the exception of the Merchant for the purposes of carrying out an individual transaction. The Cardholder must ensure that this is done in a secure manner. The Card may be used in accordance with section 2 and transactions may be authorised using a personal identification number (PIN), signature or by another method stated in this paragraph. For some Merchants on the Internet, authorisation is required using a 3D Secure password. When using a signature, the Cardholder must provide valid identification on request. The Cardholder should ensure that they obtain a copy of the transaction receipt after a transaction is completed. If a PIN code is used the Cardholder must take proper precautions to ensure that the PIN code is not disclosed to unauthorised persons. On some payment terminals, payment situations and in connection with the purchase of goods and services from the Internet, the Card can also be used without a PIN code, signature or 3D Secure password. When such use is registered, it will be applied as a basis that the Cardholder has initiated the transaction, or given consent to it, unless the registration is due to technical failure or other circumstances that the Company according to this agreement holds the risk for. A transaction that is initiated by or consented to by the Cardholder cannot be revoked. Receipts given to the Cardholder on use of the Card must always be retained for later checks against the transaction overview provided in statements. If the Company should find it necessary, (i) limits may be imposed on individual charges or for total charges to the Card for a defined period, and (ii) in the event of justifiable reasons, the Card may be blocked for certain types of use. Insofar as is possible, the Company shall inform the Account Holder in advance of implementing restrictions or blocking. Circumventing restrictions or charge limits, by for example requesting several split bills/sales invoices for the same purchase, is prohibited.

6. Pre-reservation and subsequent charges

Certain Merchants may require pre-reservation of funds in connection with ordering of goods or services. Merchants do not have the right to pre-reserve funds on the Card without the consent of the Cardholder. Certain Merchants (e.g. hotels) will request the Card number and expiry date as security against an order of goods or services. If the Cardholder accepts this, they also accept the Merchant's payment terms and conditions and that the Merchant may subsequently make rightful charges to the Card. Wherever possible, the Cardholder should ask for written confirmation stating the maximum amount agreed to be charged to the Card if this type of security is used. The Account Holder may subsequently be charged for certain items arising in connection with hotel stays, vehicle hire or similar, if the Cardholder when booking or ordering the service or by agreement with the Merchant has accepted this, whether explicitly or by accepting normal industry practice, or has been informed of the card issuer's right to impose such subsequent charges.

7. Fees and exchange rates

Charges for the issue and use of the Card are stipulated in applicable price lists. Deviations from this procedure can occur if the Card has been issued by agreement with a company. Price lists are available on the Company or product's web pages. All use and withdrawals at banks and post offices shall be considered to be cash withdrawals, with a separate fee charged in accordance with the price list. If the Card is used abroad, the amount will generally be charged in that country's currency and converted to NOK. This also applies to purchases or cash withdrawals made in Norway in any currency other than NOK. In general there will be an interval between the transaction date and the conversion date. The currency conversion rate will be set based on the exchange rate the Company receives from MasterCard, plus a conversion fee. Changes in currency exchange rates may result in gains or losses when compared with a direct conversion from the original currency to NOK. Any losses or gains in this connection shall be borne by the Account Holder. Merchants abroad may, as an alternative to this, offer the Cardholder a specific conversion to NOK. Prior to such a transaction the Merchant must inform the Cardholder that they can choose an alternative method for currency conversion. When using the Card, certain Merchants have the authority to charge the Account Holder an additional fee for the use of the Card at the Merchant in question. The right to impose an additional fee is contingent on the Merchant having fulfilled its duty to provide such information in advance.

8. Safe-keeping and loss of Cards etc.

The Card is a means of payment and must be treated as a valuable document and stored securely. The Cardholder must check regularly that the Card has not been lost or misused. This applies in particular in circumstances where there is a heightened risk of theft or misuse. The Account Holder must notify the Company without undue delay if the Card has been lost or misused or if they suspect that the PIN code has become known by an unauthorised party, using a designated 24-hour blocking service (tel. +47 21 01 53 20). In certain cases, the conversation may be recorded. The Company will cover all normal expenses for telephone calls/faxes in connection with notification. The Company is obliged to block the Card when such notification is received. If the Card is stolen or misused, the Company can require that the Account Holder provides a written account of the circumstances relating to the loss. If a Card is blocked but subsequently found again, the Card must be destroyed. The Cardholder must preferably learn the PIN code provided by heart and must always destroy the letter sent to them containing the PIN code. In the event the Cardholder has the opportunity to change the PIN code from the one originally sent, the choice of new code must be made in a responsible manner so that the code cannot be easily discovered by an unauthorised party. The PIN should not be recorded, nor in disguised form. The PIN code must never be divulged to other persons, nor to public authorities, the police or the Company, even if such information is requested.

9. Credit reserve

On application from the Account Holder, the Company can decide that a Credit Reserve shall be allocated to the Card, if this is deemed to be appropriate. The Credit Reserve will be established with a credit limit determined by the Company. With a credit reserve, the Account Holder can, on the payment due date, pay the full outstanding balance or part of the full outstanding balance, insofar as the invoice does not state that a higher sum must be paid. If the full outstanding balance is paid on or before the due date, no interest on credit will be charged. Within a credit arrangement, the Account Holder's monthly payments must be equal to no less than 20 % of the outstanding balance ("Minimum Payment") but never less than NOK 5000, as specified in detail on the monthly invoice. This applies unless otherwise agreed. The agreed credit limit is not the same as the usage limit for the Card; if the Card is used for a higher sum than the credit limit, the excess usage sum is due for payment in its entirety on the following due date, in addition to the minimum payment that can be demanded by the Company. Financial terms and conditions for the use of the Credit Reserve, including the nominal and effective annual interest rates, are as stated in the Company's valid price list for the Card. The regulations laid down in section 11 apply in their entirety to liability for payment associated with the use of the Credit Reserve. Any part-payment made in accordance with this section will be considered to cover the oldest unpaid interest or other fees on the Card, followed by the oldest accrued transaction amount. The Account Holder may request that the Credit Reserve be reduced at any time. The Account Holder consents that the Company, if it has justifiable reason to do so, can at any time limit the further use of the Credit Reserve. Insofar as is possible, the Company shall inform the Account Holder in advance of implementing restrictions or blocking. If the amount used exceeds the new credit limit, this must be paid off in accordance with the regulations for payment within the appointed credit limit. This regulation does not restrict the Company's right to demand payment of the entire outstanding amount if the Agreement is terminated in situations as described under section 16 below.

10. Liability for misuse

The Company is responsible for losses caused by unlawful transactions unless otherwise specified in this section. A transaction is considered unlawful if the customer has not authorised the transaction; cf. section 5. The Account Holder is liable for up to NOK 1,200 for losses in the event of unlawful transactions brought about by the use of a lost or stolen method of payment, or where a method of payment has been appropriated without authorisation and a PIN code or other similar personal security procedures have been applied, or due to the unauthorised appropriation of the Card if the Cardholder has failed to secure the PIN code and the PIN code is used. The Account Holder is liable for up to NOK 12,000 for unlawful transactions if the loss is caused by the obligations under sections 5 and 8 cf. Norwegian Financial Services Act § 34 (1) are not met and this is due to gross negligence. If the loss is caused by the Cardholder knowingly failing to fulfil their obligations, the Account Holder shall be liable for the entire loss. This also applies if the loss is caused by fraud. Any misuse of the Card which occurs after the Company has been notified in the manner specified will be at the expense of the Company unless the Cardholder has acted fraudulently. If the Cardholder denies having authorised a payment transaction (cf. section 5), the use of a method of payment shall not in itself be considered as sufficient proof of the transaction having been authorised by the Cardholder or that the Cardholder has acted fraudulently or intentionally or with gross negligence. It shall be the burden of the Company to prove that the transaction was authorised, correctly recorded and accounted for and was not affected by a technical error or any other fault. The limit of NOK 12,000 does not apply if the person responsible is not a Consumer.

11. Payment and payment liability

The Account Holder holds payment liability for payment demands arising from issue and use of the Card (Corporate liability). Corporate liability prevails until all claims and demands have been settled. The entity with liability to make payments is obliged by this contract to ensure that invoices issued by the Company (including any charges and due interest) are paid correctly and on time. All payments must be made in Norwegian kroner and must be made to the bank account and using the identification criteria (KID numbers etc.) as specified by the Company, and must be made by the date as stated on the invoice. An invoice will be sent out to the Account Holder monthly, provided that new transactions have been charged to the account. Except for Card with central invoicing where the invoice will be sent to the Account Holder's central invoicing address, invoice for Card with individual invoicing will be sent to the address determined by the Account Holder. If such an address is not specified, the invoice will be sent to Cardholder's address or as e-invoice to his internet bank and the Cardholder will be responsible for ensuring that payment is made in accordance with this contract. If correct payment is not made on the due date, the Company has the right to charge interest and levy charges in accordance with applicable legislation and price lists from the due date of the payment (including charges stipulated in accordance with the regulations laid down in the Norwegian Debt Collection Act). Furthermore, the Company may block Cards issued pursuant to this Agreement. If payments are not made on time, interest on overdue payments will be charged in accordance with the regulations laid down in section 3 (1) of the Norwegian Act relating to Interest on Arrears.

12. Checking transactions – complaints

The Account Holder must check the transactions itemised on the monthly invoice. If any transactions appear that the Cardholder has not initiated or consented to a transaction, or if any transactions deviate from what the Cardholder has initiated or consented to, the Account Holder must notify the Company without undue delay, calculated from the date when the Account Holder became aware of or should have become aware of the issue. By misuse, as stated in section 20, the Account Holder must notify the Company within 75 days from the invoice due date. If the Account Holder wishes to complain about a reservation on the Card, the Account Holder must always document the cancellation in a written notification to the Company. When processing complaints the Account Holder is obliged to disclose information and documentation to the extent necessary for The Company to process the complaint. At the request of the Company, a copy of a police report shall be attached. Any complaints relating to goods or services purchased with the Card can never be made against the Company, and should be directed to the Merchant.

13. Use of information etc.

By accepting these Terms and Conditions, the Account Holder consent to the following:

– That all information relating to the customer relationship may be used, processed and passed on to third parties to the extent necessary for the Company to fulfil its obligations under the Agreement. Information may be passed on to and processed by Eurocard AB and other companies in the SEB Kort Group in Norway, observing strict confidentiality and within the framework laid down in Norwegian legislation and permits granted to the Group in Norway for use for marketing and credit control purposes (including for the collation of personal profiles and data for compilation into a group customer register).

– That the Company may pass on all information on the use of the Card to the Account Holder or a partner approved by the Account Holder. Information for statistical and/or accounting purposes may be provided and such provision may involve information being supplied to MasterCard International in the USA. The Company shall ensure that the Account Holder and/or partner has set up secure processing procedures for any such information supplied.

– That the Company, in connection with use via the Internet, has the right to make a risk-based credit evaluation before the transaction is authorised. In such cases, the customer and transaction data will be stored temporarily with a Company partner, on the premise that the information is stored in a secure manner.

– That the Company may at any time and without special notification carry out a revised credit assessment of the Account Holder.

– The Company, as part of the credit assessment, has the right to request updated ongoing financial information when this is justifiable according to the Company's risk and credit policies. The Account Holder is also obliged to provide information concerning the Account Holder's actual rights holders (Beneficial Owners), if the Company so requests. The use of customer information and the rights of the customer in this respect are otherwise regulated by the regulations stipulated in the Norwegian Personal Data Act and the Norwegian Financial Institutions Act. Information concerning the Company's routines for processing personal information can be found on the Card website eurocard.no

14. Obligation to provide notification of changes of name, address, financial situation etc.

That any changes to the Account Holder or Cardholder's name, address, telephone number or employer must immediately be reported to the Company. This is also the case if the financial circumstance of an entity with payment liability for the Card is impaired such that the ability to make payments in accordance with the terms and conditions may be affected. If the Account Holder or Cardholder undergoes a change of name, the Company will issue a new Card. A fee will be payable in accordance with the applicable price list.

15. Public Law Regulations

The Card will be issued and shall be used in accordance with the regulations stipulated by Norges Bank. If the Card is used abroad, the Cardholder must comply with any applicable public authority regulations that may apply to such use. Payments made abroad that require public licences cannot be made using the Card. The Company will submit reports to the appropriate public authorities where required under the Norwegian Money Laundering Act. The Company will report use of the Card abroad in accordance with the Norwegian Foreign Exchange Register Act. This means that individual transactions greater than NOK 25,000 and purchases of currency of more than NOK 5,000 will be reported to the authorities. In addition, a monthly total per country of other transfers/transactions will be reported.

16. Duration and termination

The Account Holder may cancel the Agreement at any time free of charge. The Card will be renewed at no extra cost and in accordance with the terms and conditions applicable at the time of renewal. If the Company has justifiable reason to do so, it can refuse to renew the Card on expiry of the validity period, which will result in termination of the Agreement, or renew the Card on amended terms and conditions.

The Company, if it has justifiable reason to do so, may cancel the Agreement on giving two months' notice. The company may however cancel the Agreement with immediate effect in the event of a significant breach of contract on the part of the Account Holder. A significant breach of contract shall be considered to have occurred if the deadline for payments stated on the payment reminder is exceeded. If the conduct of the Account Holder or a serious failure on the part of the Account Holder as regards the ability or willingness to pay or any other circumstances make it likely that there will be a significant breach of contract, the Company may cancel the Agreement with immediate effect. In the event that the Agreement is terminated in accordance with this section, any outstanding amounts, with the addition of interest and charges, will fall due for payment. If the Agreement is terminated, the Cardholder must destroy the Card immediately.

17. Terms and conditions - changes

The terms and conditions will only be published on Card website eurocard.no/bedrift. The Company reserves the right to amend these Account Terms and Conditions at any time. Any amendments will come into force two months after written notification has been sent to the Account Holder. The Account Holder will be considered to have accepted the amendment(s) unless the Account Holder notifies the Company otherwise by the date these come into force. If the Account Holder does not accept the amendments to the Terms and Conditions, they may freely cancel the Agreement.

18. Legislation and disputes

This Agreement is subject to Norwegian law and regulations therein. If the Account Holder is not a Consumer, the regulations laid down in the Norwegian Financial Agreements Act will not apply between the parties. Disputes that arise in connection with the Agreement may be brought before the ordinary courts.

19. Technical failure

The Company cannot be held liable if the Card cannot be used as a result of operational disruptions to the card system, or if an ATM has run out of cash, or similar failures, unless the Company has acted negligently. Any such liability is in any case limited to the Account Holder's direct losses.

20. Protection for Card misuse by the Cardholder

If the Account Holder has a card with individual invoicing, the Company may in certain cases keep the Account Holder harmless for expenses incurred as a result of the Cardholder misuse of the Card and/or account information.

Misuse is considered to exist if the Cardholder with intention has carried out transactions and obtained inappropriate financial gain, either personally or on behalf of another individual or company, without having clarified this with the Account Holder, and has acted fraudulently or dishonestly in respect of the Account Holder. The misuse must not have had a direct or indirect benefit for the Account Holder, except for situations where the Account Holder has reimbursed the Cardholder for transactions but the Cardholder has not paid an invoice to the Company. The Account Holder may only be kept harmless if the misuse is carried out at a time when the Cardholder has been employed by, or been in the service of, the Account Holder. The limitation of liability can also be granted if the Cardholder is a chief executive officer or board member of the Account Holder, provided that the Cardholder does not have directly or indirectly ownership interests of more than 5 % of the Account Holder. The levels of liability limitations are stated in the price list. Account Holder is liable for the entire sum if the Account Holder does not inform Eurocard without undue delay after becoming aware of the misuse. The same applies if the Company has informed the Account Holder of the transaction and the Account Holder has not notified the Company within 75 days of the due date of the invoice in accordance with Section 12 "Complaints". Before a request is made to the Company, the Account Holder shall with all reasonable and available means make its best effort to get the Cardholder to pay. Any payment that the Account Holder receives from the Cardholder after the Company has accepted limitation of liability must promptly be transferred to the Company. The Account Holder shall also cooperate with the Company if necessary to initiate legal actions to demand payment of the transactions caused by misuse.

21. «Book Now Pay Later»

The service "Book Now Pay Later" may be used where the card is issued in agreement with the accountholder. By use of the service the payment for certain aircraft transactions with departure date in the future, and where departure date falls into a later invoicing period than the current, will be postponed. By use of the service the calculated price and transaction fee will be charged as separate transactions, and the transactions are covered by the Accountholders payment obligations under paragraph 11.
